U.S. News & World Report: Nationwide has the most affordable renters insurance

If you're renting or subletting, it's smart to protect yourself, your space and your stuff with renters insurance. A prominent news publication thinks Nationwide is better than most when it comes to providing renters peace of mind at a great price.

U.S. News & World Report's has recognized Nationwide as the most affordable renters insurance companies of 2021 and one of the top overall renters insurance companies in the country.

"Renters insurance can be an affordable way to cover everything from your air fryer to your recliner, and bundling this with your auto policy may save you even more," said Sarah Jacobs, VP of Nationwide's personal lines product development. "Nationwide is proud to be named a leader among renter insurance companies."

The publication's online guide features in-depth information on choosing a renters insurance company and covers a range of topics including policy costs and breadth of coverage.

Jacobs adds, "Often a renter's policy is required as part of a lease agreement, but even when it's not, your landlord's policy typically won't protect you if your belongings get damaged or stolen. A renters policy can provide valuable protection and peace of mind."

U.S. News' 360 Reviews team applied an unbiased methodology that includes professional ratings and reviews, consumer ratings and reviews and research comparing various features of renters insurance companies.
